

LADIES WEEK AT THREE RIVERS RANCH

Three Rivers Ranch has a long-standing reputation as one of the finest fly fishing lodges in the west. It's location in eastern Idaho, less than sixty miles west of Yellowstone National Park, places it among a selection of waters that includes the legendary Henry's Fork, South Fork of the Snake, Madison, Teton, and all the rivers of Yellowstone. A long standing expert guide staff, impeccable meals, comfortable accommodations, and excellent fishing opportunities are the reasons that Three Rivers was selected as the "Orvis Lodge of the Year" in 2000 and has been listed in the Hideaway Report as one of the top ten classic fishing lodges of North America. Fisherman can select from both drift boat trips or wading or, in most cases, a combination of both.

Twice a season, Three Rivers owner/operator Lonnie Allen hosts a special "Ladies Week." This week is focused for ladies who are either veterans or would like to learn the art of fly fishing. There are several optional activities and classes available for ladies during this special week. "Optional" is the key word as everything is conducted in a low-key fashion and you can select what you want to join in on. You can come alone, with other friends, or with your "significant other" - this program is flexible enough to handle any and all situations. Special light meals and a masseuse are available on request. Three Rivers guides are expert at working with beginning fly fishermen and helping them learn the sport. This is a "learn as you fish" program.
